

As a resident of Lubbock TX I am daily encouraged by the passion and truth I hear on Air 1. Air 1 is a challenge to examine my motivation in the way I interact with my community which helps remind me to be respectful. Not only does this station affect me thus, it has served as the same edifying force for the rest of the city. This is noticeable in a new overall patience within everyday interactions that can be frustrating, especially in regards to traffic. I believe that if Air 1 were to be unavailable in our city there would be an increase in negative social courtise. Air 1 is not the only morally challenging station in Lubbock, but it is the most widely recognised, especially by youth. They provide not only the message we need to hear, they also play the type of music we are searching for.
